WE ARE HON.

At HON, we know that your workplace reflects your company, your values and your people. Ours does too. We're a company born in the heart of America and made great by the hardworking people who are a part of it. We believe in keeping things real and doing things right. That's why we take pride in working as a team to handcraft thoughtful products designed with you in mind—and always strive to make style and comfort easily accessible so you can create a workspace that's authentically you.

“EVERY PRODUCT IS TESTED FOR QUALITY STANDARDS—AND OUR STANDARDS ARE HIGH.”

HON’s Manufacturing Department is made up of a number of different plant operations that are separated by product type. This allows each plant team to focus solely on the type of office furniture it specializes in and work hard to build the best products for the best value. “Every product we make is tested for quality standards—and our standards are high. Each piece of furniture is crafted with durability, functionality and value in mind. We want to go beyond industry standards and make sure that our end users are always completely satisfied and confident with their purchases.”

— Eric, Plant Manager, Seating Solutions

“WELL-DESIGNED OFFICE FURNITURE SHOULD ALWAYS BE AFFORDABLE.”

HON’s Product Development team blends strategy and imagination to concept bold, new furniture designs and come up with inventive ways to refresh older products. A number of factors affect product designs, including current and future market trends, color theories, ergonomics, affordability and employee well-being. And because these influences are constantly evolving, HON engineers are driven to innovate and continually improve every piece they create. “Product development is really the materialization of the concept we have on paper. It’s the bridge between design and production—it drives the true cost of our products and triggers raw materials demand, production capacity and execution. And that’s important, because well-designed office furniture should always be affordable.”

— Gracia, Product Development Engineer

INTEGRATED DESIGN SOLUTIONS

“EVERY PIECE OF FURNITURE SHOULD SERVE A PURPOSE.”

The HON Integrated Design Solutions (IDS) team and its dealer/designer partners work with clients of all sizes and markets to help them realize a design layout that perfectly aligns with their desired workplace culture and style as well as their office footprint. “At HON we know every space has to be functional and every piece of furniture should serve a purpose. We believe both the space and the furniture should be beautiful and seamless—working together to support today’s activity-based work styles. We’re challenged every day to design inspiring environments ranging from traditional breakout areas to innovative new third space settings. Planning that perfect space for a client is what drives us.”

— Andy, Director, Integrated Design Solutions

“THE GOAL IS TO PROVIDE A HOLISTIC SOLUTION FOR EVERY WORKSPACE IN AN OFFICE.”

HON’s Business Development and Sales teams are responsible for a number of things. They help manage relationships with trade partners who are out in the field selling products, help advance business in new market areas and work with dealers to find the right solutions for their customers. Relationship building is a key component of this position. “Building relationships in new business or with trade partners and dealers is all about trust. The stronger the relationship, the more trust we both have in the partnership.” Product knowledge is another important facet of the job. “We really have to know every piece of furniture and what features make it great so that we’re able to work closely with dealers to help customers find the right solutions. In the end, the goal is to provide a holistic solution for every workspace in an office.”

— Nicole, Business Development Associate

CUSTOMER SERVICE

“YOU CAN TRUST THAT IF ANYTHING’S WRONG,  WE’LL MAKE IT RIGHT, RIGHT AWAY.”

At HON, customer service is a top priority. The Customer Solutions team offers support to both customers and dealers by providing helpful information, answering questions, responding to warranty claims and handling any problems or changes with orders. “We’re the front line for customers and dealers—helping to ensure that they’re completely satisfied with our products and services. You can trust that if anything’s wrong, we’ll make it right, right away. Customer service plays a critical role in building relationships and keeping customers happy, which results in repeat business and increased revenue.”

— Ann, Customer Solutions Specialist

MADE for THE WAY YOU WORK

We're inspired by the way you work—and the ways that's changing. The technology you use. The chair you sit in. And the spaces you choose to get it all done. Because the way you work inspires our work. We're dedicated to design and devoted to budget. We believe that well-designed office furniture not only looks great, but makes you feel great, too. That's why everything we build is designed with purpose and motivated by change. Our products are simple, affordable and do exactly what they're meant to—day in and day out—to help you work smarter, work better and work your way.
